Headteacher's message:

It has been a busy first full week of learning, laughter and play. This morning in assembly, Year Six presented important information to the rest of the school about plastic use and how it is having a detrimental impact on our planet. It was so pleasing to see the confidence and enthusiasm from all the children involved to clearly get their messages across as to what we can do to help- Reduce, Reuse, Recycle! Well done Year Six! Please ensure that children are coming to school with refillable water bottles as opposed to disposable single use plastic ones and where possible, use recyclable/ reusable packaging for packed lunches in an aim to reduce plastic use.

Screen Time Zoom for Parents—7pm 25th January

Screens are becoming more and more a part of our children's lives and as they grow up through school, many children get a phone of their own. This can present some new challenges for children, parents, teachers and learning. We have Emi Howe from Real Talk for Kids offering a free parent zoom session, helping to ready your kids for their time online. Looking at things like: healthy screen time, friendships and bullying online - especially WhatsApp, children as targeted consumers, the real / fake divide and why the world can be a bit wonky in our screens. Recommended for parents of children all ages, this session will benefit your children's growing relationship with technology.

The parents' zoom will take place at 7pm on 25th January. Zoom Link

Class weekly round-ups

Effective communication with parents is very important to us. In addition to this weekly newsletter, every class teacher emails a weekly round-up to parents with a summary of the week's learning and any important changes/ arrangements for the following week. Please note that this round-up is also posted on the class web page. We have experienced a few problems with sending group emails on a Friday which have hopefully been resolved. If you do not receive your child's class round-up on a Friday, it will have been copied to the class page on the school website.
